CONDOLENCES

Do remember MRS WESSELS whose sister passed away last week, after that sister's husband passed away three weeks ago. All our support and prayers go with the family.

FAMILY DAY

I did apologise to the runners for the incorrect placements. The correct times and places are printed on the reverse of this newsletter. Congratulations to the winners in each category and thanks once again to the parents who assisted at the event. Any winner who has not received a medal and a prize for the first three, please inform me so that we can rectify this immediately.

GRADE 12 PARENTS

We openly acknowledge that MUCH is done for our grade 12's, much to the annoyance of teachers when our children do NOT show their appreciation.

AGAIN, this weekend Mr E. Louis conducted a Life Sciences Boot Camp for studying in the subject. He was assisted by Mr Fischer (a student teacher) and Ms Mitchell (Catering) who sacrificed their family time to be with our children. WHAT ASSISTANCE AT HOME are you giving AND what do our children show in return?

DRUGS

The school and parents know of the use and abuse of drugs by some of our children. Today the Dog Unit searched SOME of the classes to ensure that our school is free of this scourge. The fact that they only found a pocket knife, is a pleasing result, but I am not complacent and think that no-one at this school is involved in illegal substances. WARNING: if you are using or pushing or carrying for someone, it WILL catch up with you and you will be punished accordingly. Report any suspicious activities to the office. YOU WILL REMAIN ANONYMOUS.

GENERAL

Many kids have not brought A4 paper for notes and printing. This means that these learners will now have to pay for notes and question papers. They still have until FRIDAY 28 August to hand in their ream of white A4 paper.

STEELBAND

They made us proud at the City Hall on Thursday when they played at the launch of the "Mayoral Cup" where major sport codes were represented. Our Mayor, Danny Jordaan was also present, together with many other dignitaries.

INSIDE STORY HEADLINE

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find “filler” articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

INSIDE STORY HEADLINE

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial.

You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

INSIDE STORY HEADLINE

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history. You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here. You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.
